A LETTER FROM THE . . . EDITOR OF THE DUNES

Dear Students:

This is presenting "New Life." On the following pages we have tried to equalize the New Life and the Old Life. It is comparable to a chemical experiment. You have a quantity of a new, unknown substance—New Life. You're not sure what it contains, how it will react to various treatments, or what the final results will be. However, if you keep supplying a familiar, well-known agent—Old and democracy; to you as a teacher, it is an opportunity to teach others to study, to help them to discover potential goals, and to watch your effort and interest be transformed into knowledge, confidence, and new wisdom.

Today these expressions are retained, but now they are coupled with deeper feelings of expanding realism, anxious anticipation, and new patriotism.

As the new minuteman flag was raised and the bugle's sounds lushed the crowd, didn't a feeling throb through you just as though Big Ben were striking twelve from the heart of you? We can't explain it, but that's what Hammond High stands for today.

When you revisit Hammond High School, you'll always be struck by the thought, "I attended school here; I contributed to this building, its history, and growth; I belong to this institution, and part of it is mine." Don't forget that, students.

And in conclusion . . .

To Mr. A. L. Spohn, who this year finished his twenty-fifth year as principal of Hammond High School, the DUNES is gratefully and respectfully dedicated.

Cordially yours,
Ernestine Turner

Life—the material is no longer so frightening, bewildering, and unfathomable. It is brought back to a plane of understanding and simplicity. Thus we have neutralized New Life.

This is presenting the 1944 DUNES, a promise to keep alive forever your high school life, friends, and fun; a challenge to you to remember what you did and how you did it; and a symbol of new battlefronts, new meanings, and new life—wartime life.

Hammond High stands for so very much. To you as a student, it stands for education, guidance, fellowship,

NEW LIFE

VOL. I NO. 1

HAMMOND HIGH, HAMMOND, INDIANA

JUNE 1944

WHAT HAMMOND HIGH STANDS FOR

THE STUDENTS

*We're just kids.
We're plain U.S.A. trying
To live a normal life in
A topsy-turvy year—a war year.*

We want to be normal. We want to grow up in years, not terrifying minutes. So Hammond High fights to keep alive tradition. It gives us something to remember.

Everybody tumbled out to parties and after-game dances. The cafeteria was packed and the juke box got a workout. A few were missing, but we know all the "Joes" liked to think of us at home just the same as ever.

Basketball games and pep sessions and crazy pennants stormed the winter. Purple and white sons and daughters were mighty proud of all their teams. A new Wildcat yell to the tune of "Harrigan" caught on like wildfire.

Holidays and especially Christmas were a little hollow! Our morale needed a boost and dancing at the annual Christmas affair was scheduled to do the trick. After the flu epidemic subsided, the ingenious toyland decorations went back up in the boys' gym. A little late, but a grand success.

Life as in Normal Times at Hammond High

Brave Sunday bibs and tuckers turned out for "Bab" and the audience loved it. Spring bonnets and pastels blossomed in the halls when the senior class presented "Nothing but the Truth." More girls were "stagging" it, and a lone man didn't have a chance.

Vocal and instrumental concerts were more clever than ever. Ticket salesmen were planted in every nook and cranny—a "prospect" didn't get a break.

Talent? War or no war, Hammond High can produce. The usual all-school review turned into a super bond show that was funnier than ever before.

Quiz shows and Spanish fiestas, advisory parties and auditorium sessions, "May Magic," all brought spring in full bloom. An "Egyptian Paradise" popped up for the Junior-Senior Prom and distraught juniors slaved over unique decorations.

An' then—it was really over for the seniors. It was something to remember for Joe and Mary—U.S.A.

WHAT HAMMOND HIGH STANDS FOR . . . THE STUDENTS

*"I hear beyond the range of sound,
I see beyond the range of sight,
New earths and skies and seas around."
—Thoreau.*

New Life !!!

In a future age, eternal Freedom. Childhood glides beyond the gates of an unrelenting Past. But ours is still youth! The right to face Tomorrow, to look beyond the abysses of Today's destruction with a reckless brand of Courage. This is Hammond High School . . . flaming us with the knowledge of our heritage.

New Life !!!

American youth faces East and West to see those proud despotic shores where tyrants dwell. American youth laughs with courage and scorn. But beyond the poetry of empty words, a band of students sweeps into action. Paper, cardboard . . . war stamps and bonds . . . rolling bandages, Red Cross . . . Johnny Smith is pw—army, navy, or marines . . . telephone operators or part-time machinist helpers . . . canteen workers . . . drives for magazines and books . . . P-51 Mustang and a super bond show . . . salvaging tin cans . . . more stars on the service flag . . . faculty and students at war!

New Life !!!

Our country and our responsibility. Eighteen-year-olds enlist . . . seniors on the threshold of war prepare with refresher courses in math and science . . . commando training for juniors and seniors . . . army A-12 and navy V-12 tests. Hammond High prepares its students well.

Patriotism was Shadow of Every Activity

*Mona Ruwaldt and Howard Swick
Valedictorian and Salutatorian*

New Life !!!

Fighting spirit . . . athletic victories in basketball and track . . . America's children have pride . . . the war year rolls on and Hammond High's debate team enters competition . . . "Should the United States join in reconstituting the League of Nations?" . . . responsibility of citizenship . . . students begin to think and the student Pan-American League turns to Latin America . . . scholarship in the graduating class is unusually high.

New Life !!!

"The United Nations March" and "Ballad for Americans" . . . rich man or poor man . . . ditch digger or lawyer . . . Italian or Jew . . . the American way. That is the creed of Hammond High School.

New Life !!!

Youth never afraid . . . never looking back . . . our school has taught us well.

HAMMOND HIGH IN THE COMMUNITY . . . FACULTY

THE FACULTY INCLUDED MANY NEW MEMBERS

Following heavier schedules with larger classes, assisting individuals and groups alike, willingly accepting new responsibilities, filling vacancies, overtaking tasks created by stricter wartime requirements, a multitude of extra-curricular activities, and leaves of absence, the faculty of Hammond High School sought to prepare young men for advanced graduation and diplomas in anticipation of induction and enlistment, to promote bond sales, paper drives, and participation in patriotic activities, to stress the importance of education now and later, and meanwhile to provide and stimulate interest in intramural sports, after-school dances, speech contests, social activities, and dramatic productions, and to urge students to seek and seize every opportunity.

The English department consisted of Miss

Snyder, Miss McGranahan, Miss Bollenbach, Miss H. McCullough, Miss Exley, Miss Strange, Miss E. McCullough, Miss Allman, Miss Roberts, Miss Davis, Miss Kennedy, and Mr. Bolt.

Miss Vera Tomas, Miss K. Williams, Miss Alderton, Mr. Pittenger, Mr. Overman, and Mr. Beyer led the mathematics courses which are of great importance in the present curriculum. A math refresher course was a requisite of senior boys and was taught by Mr. Beyer.

Equally valuable were the sciences offered by the science department. Physics, chemistry, biology, and health and safety were taught by Mr. Wood, Mr. Long, Mr. Rupp, Mr. Seddelmeyer, Miss Reeder, Miss Jacques, Mr. King, Miss Thiel, and Miss McGranahan.

Miss Burhans, Miss Breyfogle, Miss Robison, Miss Taylor, Mr. Witham, Mr. Reed, Mr. Hendricks, and Mr. Beyer had charge of the social science and history classes.

Languages including Latin, German, and Spanish were offered by Miss Sttchard, Miss Buck, Miss Meyer, and Miss Kessing.

The music department consisted of Miss Waterbury, Mr. Diercks, and Mr. Gekeler.

Faculty members of the business and commercial departments were Mr. Fruehling, Miss Johnston, Miss Scott, Miss M. Williams, Mr. Schubert, Miss Parvis, and Mr. Dunham.

Athletic instructors Miss Anderson, Miss Dieterich, Mr. Huffine, Mr. King, and Mr. Jacobson provided an extensive program including commando training and interclass competition.

Miss Comer, Miss Thiel, and Miss McIntyre taught home economics classes. Miss Schubkegel was art instructor, and printing was under the supervision of Mr. Howe. The school librarian was Miss Hawver. Miss Thomas served as school nurse replacing Miss Dickinson who served part time at Hammond High the first semester.

AWARDS

SIXTY-THREE WERE ELECTED TO NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

From the graduating class of four hundred, sixty-three were chosen to hold membership in the National Honor Society. The following students were given this honor: Leonard Abrahamson, Corinne Alford, Aubrey Altshuller, James Bacon, Mary Jean Bohanan, Joan Bohm, Keith Bussert, Robert Byers, Barbara Carroll, Mary Chance, Marian Christensen, Robert Clark, Marian Dean, Eileen Desmond, Hilde Deutsch, Connie Dibblee, George Duncan, Peggy Erickson, Lucille Ferro, Barton Fletcher, Ruth Freese, Florence Gabovitch, Betty Gardner, Marie George, Kurt Golterman, Alice Greiner, Mary Grylls, Leona Hall, Anna Harmon, Robert Hayes, Anne Hess, Louise Hiermeier, Mildred House, Pat Humphreys, Eugene Ince, Phyllis Johnstone, James Jones, Mary Kinsey, Jean Kohl, Marilyn Kraus, Wanda Lark, Robert Mahns, Joyce McVey, Gaylon Moss, Harry Nelson, Audrey Post, Betty Raschosky, Warren Rice, William Rohrborg, Mona Ruwaldt, Marvin Shamon, Barbara Singleton, Dolores Sismour, Evelyn Stevens, Eugene Stevenson, Howard Swick, Jean Thon, Ben Tudor, Ernestine Turner, Hubert Vaux, Richard Whitman, Norma Wiedemann, and Victoria Wilson.

D.A.R. AWARDS WERE GIVEN FOR CITIZENSHIP

Joyce McVey, editor of the Calumet Herald, received the distinguished D.A.R. citizenship award which is presented to an outstanding student each year.

Upon writing a winning essay, Victoria Wilson, president of the Hammond High School Association, was presented with a D.A.R. History award. This award is given annually to one pupil in each high school.

HIGH GRADES DETERMINE VALEDICTORIAN AND SALUTATORIAN

Mona Ruwaldt and Howard Swick became the valedictorian and the salutatorian, respectively, of the 1944 senior class, both having perfect scores throughout their four years at high school.

CLASSES

Senior Class Officers and Sponsors Were Pleased with Enthusiasm and Cooperation
Clockwise: Schaefer, Dibblee, Grylls, Miss Comer, Mr. Witham, Mr. Reed (Eugene Ince, Pres., absent, V-12)

SENIOR CLASS ARRANGED MANY SENIOR WEEK ACTIVITIES

For its officers, the senior class elected Eugene Ince president (now enrolled in the V-12 program at Purdue University); Mary Schaefer, vice-president (who has taken over the president's duties in Ince's absence); Corinne Dibblee, secretary; and Mary Grylls, treasurer. Miss Ruth Comer, Mr. T. D. Reed, and Mr. L. J. Witham were chosen as class sponsors.

The Hammond High School Association during '43 and '44 was under the leadership of Victoria Wilson, president; Eugene Stevenson, vice-president; and Anne Hess, recorder. The cabinet consisted of Howard Swick, secretary of social activities; Keith Bussert, secretary of student discipline; Barbara Carroll, secretary of public safety; Dolores Simons, secretary of student publicity; and Betty Bognar, secretary of Red Cross.

Don Stuart, Jim Huelt, and Joe Mahlie were senior members of the senate. The seniors who were active in the house of representatives were Henrietta Bernhardt, Mary Lou Chance, Frances Chismar, Bill Colgrove, George Duncan, Bob Eldam, Max Fischer, Florence Gabovitch, Keith Grimm, Bob Hays, Elaine Hollihan, Betty Jones, Lois Kray, Pat Lancaster, Leatha Longstreet, Mary Payne, Audrey Post, Joe Pugh, Lorraine Roddan, Mona Ruwaldt, Jerry Shlenzky, Warren Shropshire, Eugene Stevenson, Peg Taylor, Wayne Turner, and Mary Wilkins. Jack Ogren represented his class as judge in the court.

Howard Swick, Mary Dorsey, Lewis Washburn, Lucille Williams, Ann Danehl, Virgine Pilzer, Phyllis Tucker, Angeline Dentrono, Dick Hedrick, Mary Kinsey, Jean Homolia, Betty Lator, Bruce Sawtell, and Irma Andree were social representatives.

Ernestine Turner was the editor of the 1944 Digest, and Mary Grylls was the only other senior on her staff.

Jim Cieplucha headed the business staff of the Digest. Bob Black, Faye Rector, and Pete Andree were also on the advertising staff.

Joyce McVey edited the Calumet Herald with Phyllis Johnston, Phyllis Lemertz, Mona Ruwaldt, Viola Patargias, Joan Downing, Inmae Penter, Bill Rathbun, Pauline Wright, and Wayne Turner on her staff.

Active in speech work were Jim Jones, Bob Hays, Paul Edelstein, Jim Schroeder, Aubrey Altshuler, Anne Hess, Gus Lanier, Eugene Ince, and Phyllis Johnston.

Corinne Dibblee and Eleanor Hess were the only seniors on the "yell" squad.

The senior boys had all a snappy job of capturing the sectional basketball championship for the eighth time in twelve years were Bob Straight, Don Stuart, George Duncan, and Andy Selek. Joe Mahlie and Jim Huelt, both seniors, were the managers of the varsity team.

Jim Bacon and Dick Hedrick were members of the swimming team, Bacon being captain.

Twelfth graders on the championship track team were Dick Humphrey, Bernie Krueger, Leroy Grambo, David Ford, Ray Van Burskirk, Richard Wisniewski, and Albert Ulin.

Ed Borto, Jerry Bognar, Bob Deleahanty, Kenneth Flynn, Leroy Grambo, Bernie Krueger, Venus Karbow, Bill Mohar, Richard Parbet, Charles Fole, Rodger Quier, Eugene Spangen, Eugene Stevenson, Norman Tapper, Wayne Wagner, Bill Wright, and Howard Clifton were seniors on the football team.

Lorraine Hoepfner, Dot Ward, Mildred House, Louise Fleming, Margaret Melver, Joan Bohm, Jean Thon, Lyle Adams, Jean Kohl, Eleanor Markiewicz, Dorothy Anderson, Alice Greiner, and Edna Johnson were on the girls' basketball team. The girls' volleyball squad consisted of Audrey Post, Lorraine Hoepfner, Joan Bohm, Mildred House, Sylvia Peglow, June Erlenbaugh, Jean Kohl, Lois Ballah, Eleanor Markiewicz, Dot Ward, Toni Alex, Betty Ott, Jean Thon, Dorothy Anderson, and Edna Johnson.

In the orchestra were Marjorie Conway, Mary Kinsey, Harry Nelson, and Eleanor Wallen.

The senior band included Robinette Albright, Homer Aldrich, Terry Barrett, John Bishop, Keith Bussert, Jim Cieplucha, Velma Gurtner, Margaret Forsythe, Jean Hall, Dick Hedrick, Melvin Karch, Betty Kothlow, John Margrave, Dolores Messmer, James Morrey, George Moore, Harry Nelson, Ted Richards, Lois Schen, Marilyn Schwenke, Rosemarie Sharkey, and Ovella Brown.

Richard Thon was in the junior band.

Last year students in the choral groups were Bob Black, Joan Downing, Frank Martin, Barbara Carroll, Daisy Mae Orr, Wilbert Ruth, Reggie Kavanaugh, Marion Morgan, Lewis Washburn, William Lichtman, David Forsythe, Richard Whitman, Norma Dierckx, Mary Wilkins, Edith Miller, Jean Stucker, Lorraine Kossy, Elaine Schroeder, Lois Wiley, Betty Bognar, Jean Thon, Lila Hecht, Marilyn Beiriger, Mildred House, Phyllis Johnston, and Alice Compton.

The senior dues collectors were Mary Lou Chance, Mona Ruwaldt, Dolores Simons, Homer Aldrich, Jo Rovai, Jean Thon, Anne Hess, Theresa Carroll, Dick Hedrick, Lee Newrick, Carolyn Taylor, and Helen Wagner.

Senior Week was full of activities for the graduating class. The following committees were chosen for the banquet, picnic, and class day. Jack Stone was general chairman of the banquet; decorations, Jean Mullen, chairman, Katy Lange, Barbara Carroll, Keith Bussert, Jack Ogren, Carolyn Taylor, Donnellie Dewalt, Paul Dietrich, and Dot Worland; ticket sales, Mary Lou Chance, chairman, Marie Grege, Leonard Abrahamson, Joan Downing, Florence Gabovitch, Eleanor Hendricks, Bob Lanum, Joe Mahlie, Anne Petrick, and Jim Huelt; menu, Norma Wiedemann, chairman, Elaine Schroeder, Edren Desmond, Jean Thon, and Jean Kohl; entertainment, Jim Jones, chairman, Keith Grimm, Phyllis Johnston, and Mildred House; programs, Pat Todd, chairman, and Helen Wagner.

Marilyn Krause was in charge of the program for the class day auditorium session. Assisting her were Helen Lundquist, Dolores Messmer, Mary Kinsey, and Anne Hess. The gift committee was made up of Pat Humphreys, chairman, Mona Ruwaldt, and Dolores Simons. Phyllis Lemertz, Joyce McVey, Phyllis Johnston, and Audrey Post wrote the class history. Stage decoration was the responsibility of June Schultz, Jean Erlanson, John Koegele, and Ben Gursansky.

Arrangements for the annual senior picnic were made by Bob Black, chairman, and Howard Swick, Lewis Washburn, and Ted Peck. The refreshment committee was Connie Saye, Evelyn Smith, Josephine Rovai, Ovella Brown, Toni Burns, and Lois Ballah. Place and transportation was looked after by Margie Lutz, Lela Rogers, Don Stuart, Jim Roberts, Joe Pugh, and Dot Peck. Angie Dentrono, chairman, and her committee, Joy Johnson, Sylvia Peglow, Reggie Kavanaugh, and Hubert Vaux made the plans for entertainment.

Committees for Traditional Sophomore Party Were Chosen by These Six

Clark, Kelly, Ohr,
Mr. Wood, Mr. Overman, Jordan

The sophomore class was headed this year by William Kelly as president; Jim Jordan, vice-president; Donna Clark, secretary; and Shirley Org, treasurer. The faculty sponsors were Mr. L. E. Overman, Mr. Jay Wood, and Miss Margaret Williams.

Those who were social representatives were Scott, Rhind, Rainey, Forsythe, and Biede.

House representatives from this class were Anderson, Chapman, Robinson, and Storm, while Lynch and Blair were senators.

Dues collectors for the class this year were Ashlock, Biede, Buck, Clark, Curtis, Fox, Gardner, Gescheider, Greene, Hicks, Johnson, Jones, Kuss, Lynch, Maly, Miller, Weiss, and Wikel.

Shlensky, Steffen, and Yalowitz helped on the Calumet Herald staff.

Kothlow appeared at all the football and basketball games as a very energetic cheerleader.

The senior band included sophomores: Adams, Apathy, Bayton, Doehring, Emory, Forsythe, Jones, Lape, Lind, Lyon, McCleod, O'Brien, Siefolt, Tudor, and Wikel.

The junior band had the following second year students: Anderson, Flutka, Hankins, Keith, Larimer, Larson, Nichols, Muller, Saboleic, Shipley, and Tobin.

Prendergast, Spaniol, Wertch, and Van Dusen were in the beginners' band.

The orchestra included Alfieck, Baldwin, Curtis, Halleck, Jordan, Kennedy, Niemann, Rainey, Schroeder, Stahley, Stoddart, and Tegtmann.

The choral groups had the following sophomores in their roll call: Kruzan, Bell, Lewis, Hill, Bacon, Simmons, Corbett, Longenecker, Sweeno, Mohr, Sako, Erickson, Firestone, Greene, Johnson, Kelly, Kothlow, Poloczek, Sesseman, Wood, Stewart, Gardner, Hicks, Curtis, Lydie, Clark, Hamm, Danchi, Hill, Starosack, Skufakiss, Clark, Hess, Maly, Kahl, Wendell, Canaday, Clark, Storm, Rabastine, Washburn, Slomsky, and Pickett.

The following girls participated in girls' basketball: Bagby, Gibson, Hill, Kurnis, Massack, Stepanevich, Storm, Wolf, Singleton, and Studor.

Volleyball players were Staniszwski, Wolf, Stepanevich, Massack, Storm, Kurnis, Hill, and Tobey.

Splashers were Newton, Hartigan, Steffen, Pellar, Wilson, and Ellison.

Andres and Cantrell were the sophomore cinder-men.

Buckingham, Thrommer, Hirsch, Brown, Spradlin, Tanasijewich, Jusick, Stahley, Korns, and Carroll were the sophomores out for football this year.

The freshman-sophomore basketball team had the following sophomores on it: Gescheider, Smith, Fleck, and Cantrell.

The "B" squad had Hancock, Guther, Fox, Danfee, and Shoemaker on it. Turner is the manager.

For the main social event of the year, the sophomores held a wartime party on May 19. The festivity was called the "Sophomore Swing Shift" and was under the direction of co-chairmen Jerry Korns and Mary Kay Anderson. Committee chairmen were as follows: Niemann and Carroll, decorations; Emory and Scott, refreshments; Fox and Gescheider, games; Anderson, chaperones; and Retzlaff, publicity.

During the three hour get-together, social and square dancing were enjoyed as well as entertaining games, including shuffleboard, ping pong, loop tennis, and bowling.

CLASSES

Typical?

FRESHMAN CLASS WAS VERY LARGE

The freshman class was represented in government this year by senators Seitzinger and Fox.

Haney and Lanier were selected by their advisors to hold the position of social representatives.

The freshmen who played in the senior band were Fischer, Gerber, Gooding, Massack, Pearson, and Thomas.

The junior band had the following freshmen: Andrew, Beardsley, Brown, Bruce, Burbach, Dryfus, Gerdner, Hutchinson, Krawczyk, Main, Nedlin, Orr, Ramsey, Redford, Simons, Speaks, Spungen, Stewart, Tobin, Wilmes, and Yates.

The orchestra consisted of freshmen Buse, Dierks, Greenlee, Haney, Harakal, Johnson, Khumier, Maguire, Slams, Victor, Long, and Kelly.

Those freshmen who took part in the choral groups were Bacon, Rogers, Lute, Lowden, Walker, Rakow, Bonneau, Hodge, Kavanaugh, Jones, Hadron, Kuss, Canaday, Hershback, Nedlin, Lanier, Clancy, Stockman, Hill, Rhind, Donke, Ambler, Anderson, Evans, Hall, Hess, Hill, Huebner, Desmann, Routh, Schauwecker, Schultz, Taylor, Tompkins, Wulber, Medius, and Greenlee.

Schauwecker was the only ninth grader on the Calumet Herald staff.

First year students who were interested in band work got their first training in the beginning band. These freshmen were Abraham, Constantine, Cruse, Dreggors, Ecklund, Herbst, Pouch and Smith.

Fehr, Smith, Woodward, Solon, Smith, Walter, Zerkel, Lebach, McCoy, Shilling, and Jackson went out for football.

Blair and Buono were among the Hammond High harriers.

Participating in freshman basketball were Andrew, Fagan, Hartnett, Harper, Fehr, Stankie, Blair, Siebek, Georges, McCoy, Dye, Zerkel, Taylor, Wittig, Spradlin, Klander, and Hirsch.

ACE OF CLUBS BOASTED OF HIGH GRADES

An invitation to join the Ace of Clubs is a note of distinction, and is received by every freshman who has at least a "B" average in scholarship. Adding to the dignity of the club is the fact that it is the only organization to which freshmen might belong.

The purposes of the group are to acquaint the members with other students and their environment, and to establish a high scholastic standard to be maintained throughout the year.

Last fall, the members enjoyed a delightful, as well as educational, trip to the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. A display in the field of medicine was voted the most interesting.

A contribution of five dollars was made to the Red Cross by the Ace of Clubs of which Miss Pauline Pritchard is sponsor.

Officers for the 1943-1944 semesters were as follows: presidents, Charles Rojahn and Jack Maylor; vice-presidents, Gene Fehr and Harry Hess; secretaries, Thelma Fife and Jean Clancy; and treasurers, Tom Turner and Jack Capps.

GOVERNMENT

ASSOCIATION WAS 100% IN WAR EFFORT

Throughout the year, the Hammond High School Association emphasized, above all else, student activities which aided in the war effort.

For the second time in the Association's history, a girl was elected president. She was Victoria Wilson, who was aided by Eugene Stevenson, vice-president, and Anne Hess, recorder.

From the beginning of the year, the Association sponsored the project of sending the "Calumet Herald" through the Herald's circulation department to all the boys in service.

As a reward for the outstanding sales of stamps and bonds, a Minute Man flag was procured and presented in a very impressive dedication ceremony which was held in front of school on November 1, 1943. At that time, Superintendent of schools L. L. Caldwell, Mayor Bertram Smith, and Judge Strickland addressed Hammond High students and faculty.

The Association kept a record of all the boys in the service and with the help of the Clothing Club kept up-to-date the service flag which was presented last year.

The Paper Committee headed an extensive campaign which continued throughout the year. A special paper campaign was held the week of January 10-14 and netted hundreds of pounds of paper. Miss Bernice Buck's advisory won the contest for bringing in the largest amount of paper and in an auditorium session, the room's captains, Mona Ruwaldt and Douglas Radicky, were crowned Queen and King. Part of the program was a quiz session featuring four teachers and a Board of Student Judges.

The Association was in charge of tin salvage, too.

The traditional Christmas tree in the hall was decorated by the Association and was appreciated immensely by all who saw it.

In the spring, an elaborate stamp and bond drive was backed by the governing body. Awards of paper ribbons based on naval rankings were given to student salesmen according to the amount of their sales.

A movement to abolish all outmoded laws of the Association resulted in the repealing of the obsolete rulings and the revision of the Hammond High Constitution. Copies of the rewritten and new laws were printed and given to all House, Senate, Court, and Cabinet members.

Annual Association Week was May 8-12. Monday of the week was Red Cross Day; Tuesday, Court and Monitor's Day; Wednesday, House and Senate Day; Thursday, Stamp and Bond Day, and Friday, Social Representative Day, which included a dance in the evening. An auditorium session was a popular feature of this week.

The disciplinary body of the Association is the Court. Members of the Court included the Secretary of Student Discipline and four judges, one from each class. Charles Warner, Secretary during the first semester, left for the service and was replaced by Keith Bussert. The judges were Jack Ogren, senior; Fred Baker, junior; Carl Ebert, sophomore; and Gene Fehr, freshman.

The Court met at 8 a.m. on Wednesday mornings about twice a month.

Attendance was very regular among members, and cooperation on the part of those summoned to report to Court was exceptional.

The usual offense was failure to abide by regulations for the corridors and the penalty was to impose one or more "ninths," reporting to the office at 7:45 A.M. for study.

The Senate was composed of ten Senators, three from the senior class, three from the junior class, two from the sophomore class, and two from the freshman class. They were Jim Hulett, Don Stuart, Joe Mahlie, Bill Lengyel, Pat Gavitt, Dick Sampson, Nancy Lynch, Jack Fox, Phoebe Seitzinger, and Jack Blair, respectively. Miss Frances Taylor was the advisor for the Senate.

The Cabinet members for the school year 1943-1944 were as follows: Keith Bussert was the Secretary of Student Discipline, and Miss Ruth Breyfogle, was the sponsor for this branch of the student government. The duties of this cabinet member are to preside over the Court and to act as senior judge. Charles Warner held the position until his withdrawal to enter the armed forces.

Betty Bognar was the Secretary of Red Cross and in that capacity, saw that Red Cross activities were carried on in a satisfactory manner in the school. Miss Katherine Williams was the faculty advisor for this group.

Barbara Carroll acted as Secretary of Student Safety with Miss Vera Thomas as the supervisor. The job of this officer is to captain the monitors and officiate at meetings.

Howard Swick was the Secretary of Student Activities, thus heading the social representatives. Faculty supervisor was Miss Leodicia Strange.

Dolores Sismour, Secretary of Student Publicity, reported on all activities of the Association and informed the students of these activities through the Herald.

Cabinet members held a meeting once a month to plan events and to decide courses of action. Miss Breyfogle was sponsor of the cabinet, but all the faculty advisors met with the group.

STAMP AND BOND SALES- MEN'S AIM WAS MUSTANG PURSUIT PLANE

During the first semester, Barbara Singleton and Rudy Morrow were chairmen of the stamp and bond sales, and in February, Julie Kohut and Dorothy Matosewicz replaced Miss Singleton. Their assistants were Louise Ernst, Wayne Turner, and Charles Darling.

Early in the fall, Hammond High won the honor of flying a "Mustang Man" flag by having bond and stamp purchases made by at least 90 per cent of the students. Each advisory was awarded a miniature of the flag to display every week it hit the 100 per cent mark.

After a month-long contest between the boys and girls, December 7th climaxed the event during which time stamps totaling $1,208.40 were purchased. The total for the last day, the seventh, was $3,590.65. Incidentally, the boys won.

The Fourth War Loan drive was launched at Hammond High School in an auditorium session sponsored by the Stamp and Bond Committee. The featured speakers were former graduates, Nick Seely and Frank Stefkow, who at that time had just returned from the battle of Tarawa.

The wife of the entire student body were tested on March 30th when each student was called upon to guess his adviser's age and buy stamps accordingly.

On May 26th, a show was presented to boost stamp and bond sales. Each floor was responsible for a skit, and the three skits were masterpieces of wit and entertainment. A purchase of stamps or bonds was all that was required for admission.

The goal upon which the school concentrated its efforts for the entire year was the purchase of a $75,000 mustang-pursuit plane.

MONITORS ENFORCED RIGID REGULATIONS

What was one of the largest, most authoritative organizations of the school this year? Yes, the monitors numbered 90 counting only the regular daily hall supervisors.

The purposes of the "hall police" were to maintain quiet and order in the halls, to promote the general safety of the students while in school, to check lockers, to enforce adult regulations, to be of assistance to school visitors, and to issue court notices for negligences.

Barbara Carroll, cabinet member with the title of Secretary of Public Safety, was captain of all monitors. Miss Vera Thomas was the faculty supervisor.

Period captains were Elaine Rea, Louise Hiermer, Jo Royal, Barbara Rudin, Eleanor How, Marie Jennings, Audrey Post, Mary Schaefer, Barbara Carroll, Wilma Biehle, Dorothy Matosewicz, Shirley Hubbard, Dick Simpson, Carolyn Biede, and Sylvia Piegow.

Because the monitor system is arranged for service only, it does not sponsor social activities.

SOCIAL REPRESENTATIVES PLANNED A BIG SEASON

To satisfy the varied desires for extra-curricular activities, the enthusiastic group of social representatives, the secretary of student activities, Howard Swick, and the faculty advisor, Miss Leodicia Strange, conducted an all-school poll which enabled them to plan monthly school-sponsored parties and dances that appealed to all the students of Hammond High. The success and popularity of these functions of the central social committee mounted to a grand climax by the end of the school year.

Each advisory selected a representative who acted as a direct contact between his advisory and the social group, thereby attaining entertainment desired by the majority of pupils. The group met once a week to formulate plans for a well-rounded year of activity.

To supplement the work and suggestions of the social group, a committee of eleven students was created to act as an advisory body, meeting only a deciding and determining council whenever immediate and prompt action was necessary.

The 1943-44 social year began with an after-game dance held in the cafeteria for an enthusiastic crowd after a football game on September 17. Because of the popularity of this dance, another after-game dance was held following a game in October.

One of the gayest affairs of the year was on October 30, when the social group sponsored an all-school Halloween party. D. D. Foxwell, a prominent and mystifying magician, held the center of attraction with his many interesting tricks, after which refreshments were served.

During a brief cessation of activity, great plans were made for the biggest and one of the best social dances of the year. A Christmas formal dance was scheduled for December. Due to an unforeseen epidemic, the dance was postponed and a date set for January 14. Those who attended will always remember this first school formal, with exception of the annual Prom, and it undoubtedly paved the way for future formal dances. The "Fantasy" featured Mickey Islwy and his orchestra who played for the gayly attired crowd dancing in a scene of delightful Christmas toys, gifts, trees, and animals.

One month later, February 12, another party was presented, this time clad in party clothes of Dan Cupid. Amid gay Valentine decorations, the guests danced and played while in an errie, secluded setting, L. Iver Wurst and Madame Salami, portrayed grotesquely but cleverly by Pud Hess and Joyce McVey, held the students spellbound and mystified with their fortune-telling antics.

On March 31, the social representatives had a well-earned private party at which they entertained "dates" with dancing, badminton, shuffleboard, ping pong, and refreshments. This renewed their vigor for the big plans for a party to be held April 14.

During the mid part of the evening of the 14th, Robert Williams, a notable entertainer, commanded the attention of the crowd, that later enjoyed dancing and refreshments.

The annual spring "dress" dance was held on May 12. Wally Humphrey and his orchestra provided the sweet music while guests danced amid a setting of "May Magic" and gathered at the "snack" counter.

NATIONAL

HI-Y PLANNED PARTY WITH GIRL RESERVES

The boys of the Hammond High chapter of HI-Y have been more closely bound together this year than ever because of the outstanding, well-arranged programs that were presented for them and because of the realization of the value in such an organization to the fellows whose futures are promised to Uncle Sam.

Bernie Knicker was president of the club; Dick Humphrey, vice-president; Don Stuart and Bob Peckenpaugh, secretaries; and Wes Wagenblast and Bill Carberry, treasurers.

Mr. C. M. Seddelmeyer, who had been sponsor for the HI-Y for the last twelve years, enlisted in the Navy and was called in the early spring. Mr. Overman cheerfully volunteered to accept the position of sponsor for the remaining time.

The HI-Y's goals of better scholarship, fellowship, and clean athletics were developed in many forms of education at their meetings. Several movies were shown them, and the club had such distinguished guest speakers as Rev. Stine and Rev. Smith. Bob Yarnall, who at one time was a president of HI-Y, addressed the group at one meeting.

Panel discussions on present day problems and timely controversies constituted several meetings. Quite a little time was devoted to planning the HI-Y spring conference.

The largest social event of the year was the party the members planned and enjoyed with the Hammond High Girl Reserves.

At the state conference in Indianapolis, Bob Moore, a junior in the Hammond High chapter, was elected president of the state HI-Y.

Three of the members left during the year for the service. They are Wes Wagenblast, air corps; Bill Colgrove, air corps; and Bob Dare, navy.

GIRL RESERVES HEARD A WAC AND A WAVE

The largest girls' club at Hammond High last year, with an enrollment of seventy-five, was the Girl Reserves, both junior and senior groups, being combined for the first time in a number of years. Miss Katherine Bollbach was the advisor of the group which is the high school chapter of the Y.W.C.A. For the year 1945 and 1944 Jean Thom was president; Mildred House, vice-president; Mary Jean Bohanan, secretary; Ruth Johnson, treasurer, and Louise Ernst and Jackie Hart, counsel members.

In developing well-rounded personalities and characters, the girls found the motto of the Girl

Reserves to be valuable criterion. A Girl Reserve is "gracious in manner, impartial in judgment, ready for service, loyal to friends, reaching towards the best, earnest in purpose, seeing the beautiful, eager for knowledge, reverent to God, victorious over self, ever dependable, and sincere at all times."

Telling about the service of American women in the Army and Navy, a WAC and a WAVE were guests of the club at two meetings.

The annual service of recognition, honoring the new members and incoming officers was held in the fall.

Probably one of the most interesting and helpful talks was that made before the group by Bob Moore, member of the local HI-Y and president of the state HI-Y, on "Boy Dates Girl." In this he pointed out the qualities best liked in the girls and the attitude of the fellows toward them.

When the Northern Indiana Girl Reserves met in Gary, eight girls from Hammond High attended. Our group made the favors for the 250 who attended the dinner.

In April, the Girl Reserves joined the HI-Y for a party. The gala affair was the first combined meeting planned by the two groups. Among the activities was an Easter party planned and given for the children of the Bethany Home.

In May, the girls honored their mothers at a lovely spring tea.

JUNIOR RED CROSS'S AIM WAS "PRODUCTION"

New life at Hammond High was particularly noticeable in the Junior Red Cross organization because of the wholehearted interest and enthusiasm with which the members worked this year. This doesn't mean that it wasn't the same last year or before that, but that the realization of the present conditions was so much closer to them. Whereas the purpose of the J.R.C. has always been to promote friendship and understanding between our country and others, new purposes and goals that are inevitably created during war came into the group's program.

Although every student of Hammond High is automatically a member of the Junior Red Cross, the council was made up of a representative from every advisory and it was each delegate's duty to acquaint the students with the needs of the Red Cross and to inspire cooperation and contributions.

In the fall, the drive sponsored by the Junior Red Cross netted the group $139.00 and in the spring a campaign was backed by them to aid the Senior Red Cross. Most of the many and varied programs presented included speakers among whom were Miss Janet Jones, Mrs. Glenn Chartier, and Mr. Rollis Weesner.

"Production" was probably the most important word and activity of the Red Cross this year. Through the aid of the Clothing Club, ditty bags and slippers were made. With the assistance from the art department, menu covers for Thanksgiving and Easter were made for the men in the service. Having asked the students for donations of material, the Red Cross members made stoops and stoop wringers and afghan squares. Fruit and candy were sent to the Old Peoples' Homes and to mountain folk at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Sponsors of the organization were Miss Katherine Williams, and president was Betty Bogнар, the secretary of Red Cross in the Cabinet. Other officers were: Edith Miller, vice-president; Nancy Markel, secretary; and Marie George, treasurer.

INTERNATIONAL

*Pan-American League Received Merit Award
Officers: Husich, Schauwecker, Lichtenwalter.*

PAN-AMERICAN LEAGUE CORRESPONDED WITH SOUTH AMERICA

The Pan-American League, since it has been so outstanding in its activities this past year, was awarded the special merit flag, which is given to only five high schools in the United States.

Members of the League became increasingly aware of our proximity, both geographically and socially, to the South American continent, and as a result, conducted interesting activities throughout the year. A small, struggling primary school in Haiti was supplied with school books and equipment sent by the League. A large correspondence was kept up between the members and high school students in Argentina. A pictorial scrapbook of the Calumet Region was sent to our Southern neighbors by the organization, and English classes in Mexico will be reading some of our own textbooks and magazines which were sent to them by the Hammond High chapter of the Pan-American League.

Since much of the chapter's work was interwoven with social studies class work, officers were elected to coordinate their activities. Mike Husich was president and was assisted by Betty Lichtenwalter, who served as vice-president, and Patty Schauwecker, who was secretary-treasurer. Miss Robison, who has spent a great deal of time in South America, was the League's very able sponsor.

JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE HELD AFTER-SCHOOL MEETINGS

The Junior Classical League is an organization open to Latin students, and replaces the S.P.Q.R., former Latin Club. This year, the membership leaped to seventy-two, indicating a great interest in the ancient language.

An elaborate initiation ceremony was presented for the new members at an evening meeting. The old members addressed the group, executed the initiative activities, and then led the students in playing Latin games.

Members were Androff, Bagamery, Beckman, Aubruner, Christenson, Clancy, Buse, Dils, Flynn, Jackson, Jones, Kavanaugh, Cochran, Kotso, Nelson, Rhind, Rudzik, Strockman, Umbecker, Maylor, Orr, Sennett, Victor, Wall, Walker, Erickson, Radford, Rippe, Letsworth, Weis, Kennedy, Domke, Pasley, Rohrberg, Siegel, Skurakiss, Krueger, Haag, Adelsperger, Jordan, Orr, Hildebrandt, Brauer, Gabovitch, Desmond, Woodin, Wilson, Clark, Radicky, Robinson, Hill, Murphy, Wiker, Klusmier, Fridmore, Yarovsky, Murphy, Maly, Miller, Bock, Sandstrom, Bernhardt, Hess, Longstreet, Sparrow, Oexmann, Peterson, Shlensky, Pevrie, Buckingham, Wood, and Freyer.

Miss Pauline Pritchard and Miss Bernice Buck sponsored the group.

LANGUAGE

SPANISH CLUB HELD FESTIVE CELEBRATION

The main event of the first semester was a fiesta held on December 15, centering around the "Fiesta," a candy filled doll, which provides the main entertainment for our Mexican neighbors during the Christmas season. Mexican songs, dances, games, and some of their "dishes" filled out the evening.

On April 14 the Spanish Club joined with the Pan-American League and they gave an auditorium session that centered around a quiz program of which Carl Ebert was master of ceremonies. Spanish songs and dances were also featured during the program. In the spring, a typical Spanish "fiesta" was planned, having this time as its theme the novel "Cascaraes," those confetti-filled and brightly decorated eggshells.

The meetings of the Spanish Club were conducted entirely in Spanish, and during these meetings discussions of Latin American's customs and habits were held. A bookshelf consisting of entirely Spanish readings was started in the library and was helped out by club and class contributions as well as gifts. In this way the Spanish students hoped that they would help to strengthen the friendly relationships between ourselves and our Southern neighbors.

This was the second year Miss Kessing has sponsored the Spanish Club, and during the first semester they elected as president, Richard LeVine; vice-president, Ben Tudor; secretary, Caroline Quinn; treasurer, Dick Whitman. The second semester the president was Mildred Mannion; vice-president, Peg Erickson; secretary, Caroline Quinn; and treasurer, Dick Whitman.

GERMAN CLUB MEMBERS HAD PINS

Promoting interest in and knowledge of the customs and ways of living of the German people cannot be shunned even in wartime because universal culture is so important. This motive led to many of the German Club's activities.

"The American-German Review" is a well-known magazine for which a subscription was bought by the club for use in the library. The periodical contains, both in English and German, articles of timely questions as well as poems, biographies, and short stories.

Under the auspices of the club, a film entitled "Arts and Crafts of the German Peasants" was shown at a meeting and also in the German classes. The movie stressed the industry and skill of peasants in carving, weaving, farming, and food-making.

For the first time in the history of the organization, pins were designed and ordered for the members. Red and gold were chosen colors, and then the pins were planned accordingly.

Club meetings were not confined to business, but also social activities including German word games, songs, and crafts.

At Christmastime, a party was attended by all members. Games, folk songs and dances, and refreshments typical of the Deutschland were enjoyed in a gay Weihnachtsen spirit.

Jim Scott and Joe Szendrey were presidents; Corine Alford and Lois Stone, secretaries; and Edna Berthold, treasurer. Miss Marie Meyer sponsored the club.

LITERATURE

BOHEMIAN CLUB MEMBERS WERE CRITICS

The Hammond High students who have literary aspirations and a tendency towards creative writing held a membership in the Bohemian Club. Other requirements for the organization are a recommendation from an English teacher, a "B" average in composition, and submission of an original poem, essay, short story, or play.

During some of the club meetings, the members read and criticized the literary contributions that were turned in by fellow members. In this way the rules and forms of writing were discovered and recognized by the students.

In the Christmas issue of the Herald a number of stories, poems, and vignettes appeared and were the selections of the Bohemian Club. These original contributions were submitted to the newspaper because the "Crescent," a publication of the club before the war, could not be published.

At the beginning of each semester, an initiation party for the new members was held. An outstanding feature of one of the get-togethers was a mock murder.

The first semester, Bob Adelsperger was president; Carolyn Taylor, vice-president; Audrey Post, secretary; and Marian Freyer, treasurer. The club was headed the last semester by Charles Hess, president; Bob Adelsperger, vice-president; Yvonne Petrie, secretary; and Julius Meyn, treasurer. Miss Helen Kennedy was the club sponsor.

SPEECH ARTS CLUB SPONSORED ALL-SCHOOL CONTEST

The activities of the Speech Arts Club were centered around tourney plans and speech practice. Members of the club were hosts to a regional practice meet, and the final rounds of this were held at Thornton Fractional in Calumet City. In January, together with a number of northern Indiana schools, the group attended another tourney in LaPorte.

The club sponsored an intra-mural extemporaneous contest for any students at Hammond High who had not attended a state tourney.

A special paper drive was sponsored on May 5 in order to pay for the trip to the state N.F.L. meet.

DEBATE TEAM PARTICIPATED IN STATE FINALS

Hammond High debate teams have been in eight annual national open state debate tourneys, but these were discontinued after 1941, due to war-time curtailment.

Competition in the regular open state tourneys continued in 1944, and this year the team attended the meet at North Manchester and was not eliminated until the finals. The debate team was made up of Jim Jones, Paul Edelstein, Aubrey Altschuller, and Bob Hays.

For several years Hammond High was the only school that had taken a first in debate and then appeared in the finals in the following year.

N.F.L. EARNED NEW RECORD

The Hammond High chapter of the National Forensic League has an all-time state record, having won eleven individual championships at N.F.L. state tourneys, and the debate teams having won state twice and having been two-time runners-up.

The chapter rates second in the entire state and has won the tourney sweepstakes in '37, '39, '42, and '43. This year, they placed second for this honor.

The State N.F.L. Meet of 1944 was a two-day meet in Columbia City, Indiana on April 14 and 15. In the tourney, in which there were two rounds, semi-finals and finals, the debate team took a first; Phyllis Johnstone placed first in poetry reading; and Jim Jones and Jim Schroeter came in third in oratorical declamation and extemporaneous speaking, respectively.

T. D. Reed, who has coached the speech teams at Hammond High since 1934, and who ranks twelfth in the state coaches' point rating, accompanied the groups. Others who attended were Irving Fasan, Norman Anderson, Anne Hess, Bob Steiger, and Eileen Hess.

The honor of having the highest number of N.F.L. points in the state for 1944 was held by Jim Jones, who also won the city American Legion original oratory contest. Paul Edelstein won the Rotary city-wide original oratory contest, placed first in the district, and third in the state.

Dunes Staff Edited Large Book Despite Wartime Difficulties

'44 DUNES ACQUIRED NEW FORM

Although general content of the 1944 DUNES is as complete as that of past years, the specific makeup of the book is novel, simulating a news magazine. The theme, New Life, was interpreted by such expressions as "What Hammond High Stands For" and "Hammond Battlefronts." Taking wartime difficulties in its stride, the staff published the annual, conservative only in photography and volume.

Ernestine Turner was editor of the yearbook, and her editorial staff consisted of Mary Gylls, and Marilyn Cole.

Jim Cieplucha was the business manager, assisted by Faye Rector, Dick Sampson, Julie Kohst, Dolores Maxwell, and Bob Black.

Miss Ellen McGranahan and Mr. Robert H. Dunham were the editorial and business advisors, respectively.

HERALD STAFF CROWNED KING AND QUEEN OF PAPER DRIVE

The Calumet Herald of the year 1943-1944 was under the editorship of Joyce McVey. Her staff consisted of Phyllis Johnstone and Dorothy Peck, managing editors; Pat Gavit, news editor; Phyllis Lennertz and Barbara Zurn, feature editors; Gus Lanier and Larry Weiss, sports editors; Larry George, photographer; Harvey Retsch, cartoonist; Lillian Massack, exchange editor; Mona Ruwaldt and Wayne Turner, feature writers; Hugh Dawson, Art Harlan, Peg Lyon, sports writers; and Eugene Ince, columnist. Mona Ruwaldt, Dolores Sismour, Elaine Rea, Phyllis Tucker, and Joan Downing were news reporters. A. T. Bolt was the faculty advisor for the editorial staff.

The business staff included Irving Fasan, business and advertising manager, following Dorothy Verboom and Bill Ischie, who held those positions during the first semester. Bill Schauwecker was the advertising assistant; Warren Yalowitz, Phyllis Tucker and Ted Steffen were also assistants. Circulation manager was Ted Steffen; typists, Jean Kohl, Inanna Pointer, Roberta Valliant, Joan Downing, and Viola Patargias. W. H. Howe was printing adviser.

Since the Calumet Herald is the news center of Hammond High, it published all the news about the school's activities and promoted school projects through special editions and extra publicity. Not only did it furnish the students with up-to-the-minute news, but it also gave experience in publishing, writing, and editing a newspaper.

For their subscription drive this year, the Herald had a big clock in the main hall that ticked off the number of subscriptions sold until it reached one thousand. Each 100 per cent advisory, of which there were eight, received a box of candy. As a special feature for Christmas, the Herald distributed a twelve-page edition that was supplemented with literary contributions from the Bohemian Club. Several junior high schools supplied articles for the issue.

To help publicize the big paper drive, the paper staff announced a contest to produce a King and Queen of the paper scrap drive. The boy and the girl who were the captains in the advisory bringing the most paper were crowned in an auditorium session sponsored by the Herald. Pictures of the ceremony in an auditorium session appeared in the Chicago Daily News, the Hammond Times, and the Scholastic Roto, a national pictorial supplement furnished to high school newspapers. For their annual April Fool's joke, the staff published the Temulac Times in competition with themselves. The paper consisted of facetious stories and news.

When Hammond High won the sectional basketball tournament, an edition was printed with huge red headlines urging our team on to more victories.

As a tribute to the seniors, an enlarged graduation issue was published by the seniors. The news was exclusively of senior activities and interests. The members of the next year's staff took over the duties of publication in May and produced all the Heralds thereafter except the commencement issue.

Several of the Herald staff of this year won membership in the Quill and Scroll, a national honorary society for journalists. These members were Joyce McVey, Dorothy Peck, Phyllis Johnstone, Phyllis Lennertz, Dorothy Verboom, Larry Weiss, Eugene Ince, and Bill Ischie. Joyce McVey also won honorable mention in an editorial contest sponsored by the Quill and Scroll.

As a way of getting improvements, new ideas, and discussions of policy, the staff held monthly meetings in the homes of the members, and thus combined social life with business.

In order to collect experience in putting out a newspaper, a "cub" staff which is made up of members of the journalism classes, published one week's issue. For the first semester's cub edition, the staff consisted of Pat Gavit, editor; Steve Bronson, John Kapuscinski, sports editors; Barbara Zurn, feature editor; Lucille Williams, Julie Kohst, and Robert Dare, reporters.

ARTS AND CRAFTS CLUB FASHIONED FACULTY BANQUET DECORATIONS

Since the objectives of the Arts and Crafts Club were to promote interest and knowledge in the appreciation of finer things and to serve the school by making all sorts of displays, the activities of the members for the year were centered around these motives. The group actively aided the war effort by making 5,000 menu covers for the Red Cross to send to the Armed Forces.

Hammond High's own war effort was publicized by various displays and posters created by members of the club.

A provincial design was used by the club for the decorations on the spring faculty banquet. Club members fashioned clever designs of worms, bugs, and other garden motifs from bits of paper, wire, pipe cleaners, and cotton roving. There were also three dimensional wall displays.

During the club meetings, a talk on modern architecture was given by a member. They also established an annual Easter egg decoration contest. One meeting was given over to the quiz program on layout and display. Potato modeling during Thanksgiving and St. Patrick's Day was another project.

At Christmas time, the club held its annual initiation banquet; consequently sculptured trees and angels furnished the table decorations. The clever initiation stunts were entitled "The Icecapades."

Officers who headed the organization for the first semester were Pat Todd, president; Pat Matthews, vice-president; Mary Cyrus, secretary-treasurer. The second semester officers were Kathryn Davis, president; Mike Sikora, vice-president; Emerson Besch, secretary-treasurer. Miss Olga Schubkegel was the sponsor.

BIOLOGY CLUB PRESENTED A SPEAKER FROM AUSTRALIA

Requirements for eligibility in the Biology Club were that members must have had the biology course, and that they proved themselves deserving by taking some initiative and an active part in the duties and responsibilities of the club.

In study at club meetings, in giving reports and observations, in application of knowledge to daily work, and in definite jobs, the purposes of the organization were brought out. These purposes were furthering an interest in biology and promoting cooperation, leadership, and expression before a group.

The club, which consisted of 42 members, gave the students experience in plant culture and pest control, both phases of biology which will aid the members in cultivating fruitful gardens.

The annual initiation party was held in the fall.

Several movies of subjects related to their work were shown to the club members.

An interesting phase of scientific work was enjoyed by the pupils when they delved into microscopic studies.

Chemical tests and the dissection of animals also took place during the meetings.

The club sponsored an auditorium session when they presented Mrs. Gray, who gave an interesting talk on "Australia, Its Fauna and Flora."

Speakers were brought in to give official information to the Biology Club.

Kenneth Shull and Kenneth Buckingham were presidents; Eileen Skomsky and Joe Ellison, vice-presidents; and Alice Bruhn and Betty Curtis, treasurers. The club was advised by Miss Crystal Reeder.

SAFETY

AUTOMOBILE CLUB HAD SEVERAL GUEST SPEAKERS

On the calendar of the Automobile Club this year were many dates that proved to be very valuable. Several movies were shown on the subject of conservation of automobiles and on the subject of safe driving. A film explaining automobile construction was very educational. The members had opportunities to hear several guest speakers. Among these were Mr. Suthern, a state trooper, who spoke on the hazards and various accidents that occur on the highways.

A very engaging speaker was Mr. Schaeffer, who told the group about cars of the future and about futuristic ideas for developments toward safety.

Mr. McNary of the Cities Service Oil Company reported on the power of gasoline.

The Automobile Club presented Mr. Sam Cambell in a program for the entire school. Mr. Cambell, backed by the Chicago North Western Railroad, related many of the experiences which he has stored up as a result of living in Northern Wisconsin. An amusing colored movie accompanied Mr. Cambell's talk.

Laws concerning automobile manipulations were officially and clearly stated to the young drivers by Judge Stelley.

The purpose of the club is to eliminate unsafe driving among the members by acquainting them with the hazards that accompany car driving.

For the first semester, Charles Murray was president; Paul Dietrich, vice-president; Bob Lanum, secretary; and Eleanor Hess, treasurer. During the second term, Paul Dietrich was president; Jim Scott, vice-president; Bob Lanum, secretary; and Bill Smith, treasurer. Jim Cieplucha served as program chairman both semesters.

CLOTHING CLUB MODELED SPRING FASHIONS

The Clothing Club elected officers to preside over the group's activities for the entire year. Sylvia Peglow was chosen as president; Eileen Desmond, secretary; and Wilma Huehn, treasurer. Miss Georgia Thiel sponsored the club.

The girls devoted practically all of their club meetings to filling quotas for the Red Cross. Their largest projects were making hospital slippers and ditty bags for the men in service.

The stars on the Association's service flag, indicating all the Hammond High former graduates and students in the armed forces, were sewed by the members of the Clothing Club.

Other responsibilities of the organization were making slip covers for stage furniture in the school productions and providing costumes for all the auditorium sessions, plays, and activities.

The Clothing Club also sponsored a very interesting auditorium session which consisted of a style show, presenting attractive costumes which had been styled and made by the girls in the club.

At several meetings, skits valuable to personal development were presented. The sketches included notes on color schemes, hair styles, dress fashions, and personality.

"Manners for Moderns" was donated to the library by the Clothing Club.

Social activities included an initiation party for the new members.

COMMERCIAL CLUB INVESTIGATED OCCUPATIONS

Organized to give students an insight of the business world, the Commercial Club devoted its meetings to showing the members just what it means to be a business woman.

As most of the girls will be entering the business world on graduation, the talk about "do's and don'ts" for speech, manners, and dress when being interviewed for a job was extremely valuable. Miss Nangle of Penney's department store was the speaker.

Phonograph records stressing the importance of clear diction and clean enunciation in telephone and office speech were played at one meeting.

Of course, at Christmas time, business was put aside and several members arranged a Yuletide party for a strictly social time.

A personality skit was presented for the Commercial Club by members of the Personality Development Class, which is a new course provided for senior girls.

Miss Savery of the Navy Pullman yard spoke about her work and gave pointers in being a good secretary.

An interesting and informative talk on bank work was given by Miss Anderson of the Mercantile Bank.

A record of the club's activities was kept in a scrapbook.

Miss Mary Scott and Miss Margaret Williams were co-sponsors of the group, of which Lucille Ferro and Jean Kohl were presidents; Dorothy Mech and Inamae Pointer, vice-presidents; Irene Kotynski and Hilda Deutsch, secretaries; and Joan Worosz and Eunice Klaprodt, treasurers.

PRESS CLUB WAS ENTER- TAINED BY POET

A tribute was paid to Benjamin Franklin in the fall by the boys who studied his trade. In honor of the great man's birthday anniversary, the Press Club enjoyed having such distinguished guests as John "Bud" Packham, the Hoosier poet, and Mr. L. L. Caldwell, as well as other prominent businessmen. Music was furnished by members of the school band.

On April 18, members of the club, accompanied by their sponsor, Mr. Howe, visited two great printing houses in Chicago. Their first stop was at the R. R. Donnelley Printing Company, where the group watched the printing of Time and Life. From there the boys went to the home of the Chicago Tribune and watched the presses roll out the newspapers.

In recognition of Arbor Day, a tree was planted by the club at the end of the athletic field.

A biography of Benjamin Franklin was given to the high school library.

The Hammond High School Press Club was headed by Ernest Hasselbring, president; Max Fischer and Ralph Prendergast, vice-presidents; Ralph Prendergast and Bill Shoemaker, secretaries; and Bob Kostopoulos, treasurer.

LIBRARY STAFF MADE REFERENCE WORK EASY

One hundred and four students constituted the library staff this year. Sixty-two were study hall librarians and alternates whose work of supplying pupils in study hall with reference material helped relieve the overcrowded conditions of the library. Room workers, desk helpers, and extra workers accounted for the remaining forty-two.

The room workers assisted readers in using the card catalog and Reader's Guide and supplied them with books.

Besides taking attendance each period, they shelved magazines and books used in the library.

Charging out library material, checking in returned references, magazines, pamphlets, and newspapers, arranging and filing cards, reserving books, and answering the telephones were the tasks of the desk helpers.

Extra helpers issued overdue, second, and final notices, and also typed book cards, book pockets, and reading lists.

Staff members met for instruction during auditorium sessions.

Miss Leona Hawver is the librarian.

The library received gift books from the Dunes, the Herald, the Senior class, and ten clubs. These gifts included reference books such as a Spanish dictionary, "20th Century Authors," and Webster's Biographical Dictionary; biographies, such as "Lou Gehrig," "A Quiet Hero," and "The Story of Dr. Wassel"; World War stories, including "30 Seconds Over Tokyo," and fiction, "Look to the Mountains" and "The Uninvited."

The walls of the library were kept very attractive with bright book covers, and seasonal bulletin boards were decorated.

BOOKS

BOOKROOM STAFF WAS SURPRISED BY "BOSSSES"

"Get it in the bookstore" is not only the most heard statement made by seniors to the bewildered, unaware frosh, but also the motto which leads everyone to realize how important the book-room and staff were to us.

Hammond High's bookstore was a center of activity during the complete year. In the fall, tickets for our football games were sold both in the store and on the field. No sooner was football season over than basketball season was here and with it the handling of individual, season, and tournament tickets. Having three tournaments in Hammond this year made tournament time slip by without too much strain on the staff.

Of the ten members on the staff, only one, Bill Carberry, was a member of last year's staff. With Bill as a student manager, Marie George was the head bookkeeper, Anna Mae Harmon was the recorder, and Alfred Silverman took charge of accounting. Balancing the cash register was the job of Bill Lengyel, while Leon Murden balanced the general cash. Dorothy Anderson's task was filing and Bertha Lee Throop's was paying in-voices, writing checks, and ordering supplies. Hilde Deutsch had charge of all club treasurer's reports. Besides these specific, assigned jobs, members acted as clerks in selling books, pencils, paper, ink, and other supplies to teachers and students. All financial transactions of the entire school were done through the bookstore.

Being a member of the bookstore staff was not all work. Mr. R. G. Rupp and Mr. T. Fruehling, faculty supervisors of the bookroom, planned a surprise for the entire staff in June.

To complete the year, the group had a picnic as a final get-together.

MUSIC

ADVANCED GIRLS' GLEE CLUB HAD LARGE ROLL CALL

The Advanced Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Esther Waterbury, participated in several auditorium sessions, and had important parts in the Christmas pageant and Navy Day program. Although their other activities were not extensive, the girls' contributions were very good in the Christmas program and the spring all-vocal concert. Nine of the girls entertained the ladies of the Presbyterian Church Circle.

The Advanced Glee Club promotes an active interest in group singing and teaches each girl to carry her part independently.

An all-city 8A songfest was highlighted by numbers of the group, as Hammond High was host to the event which replaced the annual music festival. The club also provided selections for the commencement week activities.

Connie Webster and Peggy Clark were presidents; Elaine Schroeder and Frances Chizmar were secretaries; and Katy Lange and Lois Lydle were treasurers.

CHORAL CLUB GAINED NOTICE FOR "BALLAD FOR AMERICANS"

The Choral Club had a long list of invitational performances before local organizations this year. The group gained notice and popularity for its variety of numbers but especially for the presentation of the "Ballad for Americans." Soloists for this number were Norman Anderson, Bill Lichtsinn, and Richard Whitman.

Mixed voices composed this most advanced vocal group at Hammond High School. The outstanding ability of the members was shown by the fact that the majority of the work done in class was unaccompanied.

One of their first performances this year was an all-school songfest in which the Choral Club sang several selections and also led the student body in singing numerous popular and patriotic tunes.

Fearless when it comes to hard work, the group prepared programs for local organizations and school affairs and at the same time worked up a beautiful Christmas pageant. Stage parts were taken by Annette Olsen and Jean King. The production was given for Hammond High P.T.A. as well as for the student body.

With the coming of spring, plans were made for the first all-vocal concert to be given by the music department. In the stirring success, the Choral Club sang six songs, including sacred, patriotic, and seasonal selections. The solo, "Italian Street Song," was sung by Annette Olsen with choral accompaniments.

In June, music for the commencement exercises was provided by the Choral Club.

The group elected officers and had Cliff Jensen as president; Edith Miller, secretary; Mary Wilkins, treasurer; and John Krueger and Bill Lichtsinn, librarians. Mary Fekete was the club's accompanist.

Miss Esther Waterbury, who skillfully directed the group, pleased a great many music lovers with her plausible presentations during the year.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB SANG FOR COMMENCEMENT

Under the direction of Miss Esther Waterbury, the Boys' Glee Club had a very successful year. Charles Hess and Frank Martin were presidents of the group; Bill Schauwecker, secretary; and Jack Kothlow, treasurer.

Aims of the club were to enjoy group singing and to learn correct breathing, tone quality, and part singing.

The group participated in the Navy Day program, and contributed selections at several auditorium sessions. Three special numbers were prepared for the Christmas and Lincoln-Washington assemblies.

Music at commencement exercises included the Boys' Glee Club.

In the Yuletide assembly, Charles Hess had a solo part.

In the music department's most famous and demanded performance, "The Ballad for Americans," soloists from the Boys' Glee Club were John Erickson, Jim Hall, and Fred Firestine.

The Boys' Glee Club's part in the Spring Concert was very original and clever. As the boys sang old songs, including "Genevieve," "Juanita," "The Old Mill Stream," and "The Easter Parade," girls, charmingly dressed as the characters in those songs, appeared through a gaily decorated door on which the word "Melodies" was written. A quartet composed of Jim Hall, Gordon Taylor, Paul Polochek, and Paul Huebner, sang "The Old Mill Stream," while the duet for "Juanita" included Fred Firestine and Bill Greene.

MUSIC

TRIPLE TRIO HAD COMMAND
PERFORMANCES

The Triple Trio, an extra-curricular vocal group, organized for the purpose of entertaining at various social functions, throughout the city, became widely known for its interpretation of lighter music. During the year, the girls were invited to sing for the Cabernet City Garden Club, the D.A.R., and numerous other organizations. The group also was included in all the musical auditorium sessions and in the concert.

Betty Gardner, Annette Olson, Kathryn Kuss, Edith Miller, Mary Wilkins, Jean King, Shirley Sykes, Anne Danche, and Beatrice Skufokiss were the girls who composed the Triple Trio.

BEGINNING GIRLS' GLEE CLUB LEARNED MUSIC
FUNDAMENTALS

Having been in existence only three semesters, the Beginning Girls' Glee Club was a comparatively new organization. However, the younger girls made fine contributions to the musical programs, entertaining in auditorium sessions, concerts, and for outside audiences, among which were the members of the Christian Church.

In the club, the newer girls were taught the fundamentals for good singing; namely, tone, pitch, clearness, and good breathing. Besides giving an appreciation of good music and a knowledge of composition and rhythm, this work gave the members proper training so that they might advance to the more developed groups.

For the fall semester, Margo Gardner was president; Bernadine Storm, secretary; Anne Danche, treasurer; Joyce Jones, librarian; and Anne Withen and Sally Domke, accountants. During the spring term, the president, secretary, treasurer, librarian and accountants were Noreen Longenecker, Marie Christen, Geraldine Patrick, Sharon Demaree, Marie Christen and Sally Domke, respectively.

SENIOR ORCHESTRA ENTER-TAINED BETWEEN ACTS

The major public performances of the orchestra were to provide music between the acts at the fall and senior plays. A large portion of the programs of the three public concerts was devoted to the brilliant selections for string instruments. One auditorium session included entertainment by this group. Many of the orchestra members entered in the annual state solo and ensemble contest. The annual string solo and ensemble recital provided great pleasure for those who attended. Members advanced rapidly with the aid of Mr. Kenneth Gekeler, director, who arranged weekly rehearsals for the members of ensembles.

SENIOR BAND RENDERED
PATRIOTIC NUMBERS

Playing for band rallies and important community gatherings, was all in a week's work for the accomplished and large Hammond High School Senior Band. The group marched in the holiday parades, besides playing for all of our football games. The complicated formations maneuvered by the band thrilled the spectators at the games. The band rendered a large repertoire of music at auditorium sessions and for three concerts throughout the year. The solo and ensemble contest found many senior band members present, too. One of the most requested selections of the band was the, beautifully rendered "United Nations Rhapsody". Mr. Diercks conducted the band.

JUNIOR BAND PAVED WAY FOR PROMOTION

The main purpose of the Junior Band is to prepare, by daily training and group practicing, for advancement to the senior band. The programs for the three concerts included several selections offered by the younger musical organization under the direction of Mr. Gekeler and Mr. Diercks. Besides their regular lessons, the members practiced marching and parade drill work. It is in this class, too, that the elementary techniques of music directing are shown and acquired by the band musicians.

WILDCATS TAKE SECTIONAL

The Wildcat five opened their season, being defeated 44 to 37 by Lew Wallace, and the next week they lost a heartbreaker to South Bend Central 40 to 39. The following week they snapped into form and whipped the Horace Mann team 45 to 37. Continuing in fine style, they defeated Elkhart 49 to 38. Facing a terrific Clark machine, the Wildcats went down fighting 53 to 35 loss and again lost another heartbreaker to Thorton Fractional 46 to 45. Once again the fighting spirit was aroused and the cagers triumphed over the Froebel Blue Devils 31 to 21.

The following week the Wildcats were severely trounced 62 to 28 by Fort Wayne Central. The team came back three nights later and handed Horace Mann its second defeat 32 to 26. Once again the Wildcats met defeat at the hands of the Arch rival, Hammond Tech, losing 25 to 17. A favored Washington team was nearly nipped by the Wildcats, but survived a 33 to 28 victory. The cagers then suffered a losing streak, being beaten by Tolleston 42 to 38, Roosevelt 48 to 40, and Clark 50 to 35. The cagers came back the next week to edge out Emerson 37 to 36 and again the ferocious Cats met George Rogers Clark, now rated second in state. The team won new acclaim by cutting the score to 33 to 23, even though it was a loss, the fans and team were now out for blood. They were defeated by Whiting 59 to 46 and then started off on a victorious sectional race, defeating Tech 33 to 24.

The Cats easily trounced Crown Point 49 to 34. An over-confident crowd was thrilled and worried as the cagers defeated Griffith 30 to 29.

A strong Gary Edison team met defeat at the hands of Hammond High 50 to 43.

A doubtful but cheering crowd watched the score grow as the Wildcats won the Sectional over a favored Washington team 32 to 26.

The once beaten Emerson team came back to knock the Wildcats from the race 36 to 23 in the Regionals.

BASKETBALL LINEUP

SOBEK—Calm senior forward that was a favorite among the fans because of his ability to play sparkling ball under fire.

STUART—Hard playing senior guard that captained the team to a victorious sectional championship by his versatility on the court.

DAWSON—Junior forward that gave all he had in every game. He will be one of the main sparks of the team next year.

DUNCAN—Senior left-hand artist that made history and points by his left hand shots and his rebound ability.

FEDEROFF—Lanky center that was a favorite of the fans when he played.

He is an excellent rebound artist and will be a great asset to his team next year.

STEPANCEVICH—Classy junior guard that thrilled the crowd by his long shots and brilliant ball handling.

PARIS—Junior forward that added to the Wildcats' morale by making baskets when they were most needed.

STRAIGHT—Regular senior center that could get rebounds and guard his man, no matter how great the odds.

SIKORA—Junior guard that used his muscular build to contribute to the fighting spirit of the team and fans.

WILDCATS WIN 5; LOSE 4

A triumphant march of five straight wins started the ball rolling for the Hammond eleven. Several injuries sustained during the latter part of season stopped the Wildcats' drive.

The first game of the season was a win for Huffine's varsity, 19 to 6 over Roosevelt of Gary. The following week Hammond High trounced the Tech eleven 26 to 7 and then defeated Washington of East Chicago 25 to 13. Bernie Krueger and Company walked all over the Emerson team, defeating them 32 to 7, and then defeated Catholic Central 27 to 12.

A superior Clark team downed the Wildcats 41 to 12, and then the boys were beaten 13 to 0 on Whiting's field.

The team took its third defeat under the smoky and dimly lit field at Lew Wallace 25 to 0. An unfortunate loss to Tilden Tech of 9 to 6 ended the season for the hard playing Wildcats.

During the season Hammond scored a total of 147 points to the opponents' 133, and racked up 23 touchdowns to the 20 made by other teams.

SWIMMING SPLASHERS WON CONFERENCE CROWN AGAIN

The Wildcat 1943 state champion swimmers retained their conference crown again this year. Although there wasn't a state meet, the "Kingfishers" were favorites to occupy again the state championship throne.

In the 40-yard free style Jule Meyn, junior star, splashed to a first and Jim Bacon took fifth.

Meyn took a fourth in the 100-yard free style.

A fast 220-yard free style put Gilchrist in second.

The 160-yard free style relay team, composed of Gilchrist, Hodrick, Newton, and Bacon, took a second place and the 180-yard Medley relay was fourth. In this relay were Miller, Nichols, and Pelliar.

The splashers finished the season by winning four meets and losing three.

The Wildcat varsity beat Whiting two times in succession, the first 42 to 24 and the second time 40 to 25. Hammond then played host to Danville, Illinois, being defeated 40 to 26 and then lost to South Bend Central 40 to 26. The team then scored two victories over Horace Mann, the first 37 to 29 and the second 35 to 31. A slightly superior Washington team won the last of the dual meets 35 to 31.

GOLF GOLF TEAM HAD FAIR SEASON

The 1943 golf team ended a mediocre season of four wins and half as many losses with a triumphant set, winning the LaPorte Incitational Tournament and the Northern Indiana Conference Championship for the second successive year. With this victory, Hammond High became the only school in Northern Indiana to hold such a record.

Several team members having entered the service, this year's team suffered three setbacks in four meets. At the annual LaPorte Tournament, they placed fifth out of eleven entered schools. However, one highlight was that George Duncan, Hammond's left-handed golfer, paced the Hammond team with a neat 79, thus being co-medalist at the tourney. Besides Duncan, members of the team were John Granack, Don Stuart, Jim Roberts, Pete Stepanovich, and Jim Jones.

THINLIE CLADS UNDEFEATED UNTIL STATE MEET

A grand march of 10 wins and no losses was the record set by the Wildcat track squad this season.

The first meet of the year was an invitational at South Bend in which the Wildcats nosed out North Side of Fort Wayne 51½ to 50, with three other teams trailing. On the first of April the team traveled to the Purdue Field House and handed Fort Wayne its second defeat 59 to 41 in a dual meet.

The first outdoor meet was almost a defeat for the over-confident tracksters, but the winning of both relay teams ended in a 60 to 49 victory for

Grambo, Ford, Federoff, and VanBuskirk; Mile Relay

Hannock and Lindholm; ½-Mile Relay

Hammond High over Roosevelt of Gary.

A triangular meet against Clark and Washington ended in a walk-a-way with Hammond scoring 83 points, Clark 42½ and Washington 35½.

On April 22 the Wildcats won the fourth annual Roosevelt Relays for the fourth time. The tracksters trounced 13 other schools, with a total of 73½ points to the second place team's 40 points.

The next week the thinly clads qualified 13 men and both relay teams in the Western Division Conference trials. The mile relay team composed of Grambo, Ford, Federoff, and Van Buskirk set a new record.

The fifth of May the Hammond High track team brought honor and glory to the school by winning the N.I.H.S.C. Again beating the North Side of Fort Wayne and 20 other schools represented.

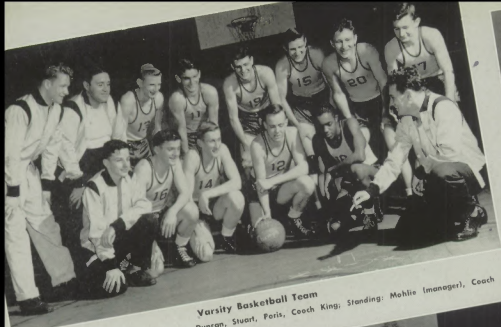

The Wildcats easily won the sectional on the 13th of May by defeating 12 other schools. Eleven of Coach Huffine's boys and both relay teams qualified for the state meet. At Indianapolis the Hammond harriers took third place with a total of 22 points.

Those qualifying for the State Meet were:

Dick Humphrey—100 yard dash, broad jump, half-mile relay.
Bernie Krueger—200-yard low hurdles, half-mile relay.
Carlyle Lindholm—220-yard dash, broad jump, half-mile relay.
Lee Grambo—220-yard dash, mile relay.
Jim Federoff—440-yard dash, mile relay.
Dick Sampson—Mile run.
Hugh Dawson—High jump.

ATHLETICS

GIRLS' ATHLETIC CLUB SPONSORED INTERCLASS TOURNEYS

Among the tournaments sponsored this year by the Girls' Athletic Club were advisory and class basketball, volleyball, swimming, softball, archery, and ping pong.

An initiation party was held for the new members early in the fall, and while the weather was still warm, the girls took a hike hike. A Halloween party proved to be a big success. Getting chilled and bumped was lots of fun at the skating party. Seasonal events were get-togethers at Christmas-time and on St. Patrick's Day.

Miss Georgia Anderson, co-sponsor of the organization, was surprised at a lovely birthday party arranged in her honor.

The girls also had a senior banquet for the graduating club members.

To provide opportunities for healthful activities and competition for girls in a variety of sports, to stress the importance of physical fitness, are the leading motives of the club. Miss Marian Dieterich and Miss Anderson sponsored the group which met after school, semi-monthly.

Lorraine Hoepfner was president, Evelyn Jensen, vice-president; Camille Thompson and Marjorie Kunde, secretaries; Audrey House, treasurer; and Dorothy Matosec and Alice Greiner, head of sports.

SENIORS' VOLLEYBALL TEAM WAS VICTORIOUS

Spirited class competition started in the fall when the Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors made up teams to vie for the volleyball championship. Although accuracy and strength marked the underclassmen's style of play, the seniors took the crown, defeating the juniors in the final game, 21 to 16. Probably the seniors' previous experience was an important factor in their technique of playing. The majority of the players had been members of tournament teams in preceding years. The victors were Ward, Alex, Ott, Thon, Post, Hoepfner, Bohm, M. House, Padlow, Anderson, Erlenbaugh, Kohl, Johnson, Ballah, and Markiewicz. Outstanding players from each class team were then selected to be on the varsity volleyball squad. Their stars were Bayton, Stanisewski, A. House, Jensen, Haag, Post, Bohm, Anderson, Johnson, Markiewicz, Thon, and M. House.

BASKET BALL HONORS WENT TO JUNIORS

Revenge was the prize for the juniors when their team, composed of Haag, Matosec, Bock, Lewis, A. House, Heath, Jensen, Kunde, and Korchiadas, eliminated the two lower classes in the tourney and finally stopped the seniors in a very close game, 17 to 15.

The varsity basketball players, too, were chosen according to ability and service. Bayton, Grunack, Milobar, Jensen, Bock, Haag, Lewis, M. House, McIver, and Markiewicz held positions on the "A" team.

The dothle elimination process of determining the winners of the interclass tournaments was conducted by the members of the girls' Athletic Club after school during the seasons for each sport.

GIRLS' SWIMMING TEAM CAPTURED STATE TELEGRAPHIC MEET

Two swimming meets were the activities of the splashers this year—the class meet and the Indiana high school telegraphic contest.

In the intramural meet the seniors vied with the juniors for the title and won by compiling 52 points. The other classes scored in order, the juniors having 44 points, the sophomores having 22, and the freshmen 8. Ballah, Post, and Livingston took first places in the crawl, racing back, and breast stroke.

The Hammond High girls' swimming team captured second place in the state telegraphic meet in the spring. The team, made up of Ballah, Boldt, Wotmann, Kohl, Lyon, Jensen, Schmidt, Post, Currier, Wallace, Livingston, Himark, Stockman, and Rudin, gathered 35 points to count as runner up to South Bend Central that had 45.

Lois Ballah broke an Indiana High School girls' swimming record, doing the 20-yd. backstroke in 12.4 seconds. Other ratings were 20-yd. backstroke, Ballah, first, Post, second, and Kohl, fourth; 40-yd. backstroke, Post, second; 20-yd. breaststroke, Livingston, second; 40-yd. breaststroke, Livingston, first. The team took third in both the 60- and 80-yd. crawl medley.

MUSIC

CONCERT

On April 19, the annual instrumental spring concert was opened at 8:15 P.M. by the senior orchestra playing a Strauss overture. Other selections by this group were Beethoven's overture "Egmont," "The French Clock" done by a flute octette, and "Ave Maria," arranged by Mr. Gekeler for strings and two pianos.

The junior band appeared next on the program and was applauded especially for its presentation of a novelty number, "The Little Brown Jug Goes to Town."

Johnny Margrave, Popular Cornetist

Buzzert, Steiger, Emde, and Schwenke, Talented Cornet Quartet

Drum Majorettes Gardner, Mears, Andres, Curtner

The senior band concluded the program in traditional grand style. The favorites done by the advanced group included "The Flying Dutchman," a medley from "Oklahoma," and "William Tell Overture."

FESTIVAL

Festive indeed was the setting for the spring association dance sponsored by the social representatives. The boys' gym was transformed into a dreamland of flowery arbors, glistening stars, brilliant butterflies, and a sparkling spray from a tiered white fountain. As Wally Humphrey's orchestra provided the strictly danceable music, the frivolous couples, gaily attired in spring outfits, danced from 9 until 12.

The "May Magic" festival closed the activities of the social committee as the school year was drawing to a close, but it definitely topped the list of successful mixers sponsored by Hammond High students and guests.

SCIENTIFIC EXPERIMENTS AMAZE AUDIENCE

Hot dogs, eggs, and flares were all parts of the demonstration made by Mr. Sloan in an educational lecture on the development and uses of liquid air. The amazing qualities of this new discovery awed the students and faculty as the speaker illustrated his talk with the aid of a student volunteer.

MOVIELAND'S "SECRETS" DISCLOSED

Two entertainers who have had experiences in providing sounds for Hollywood productions demonstrated their devices and techniques for making sound effects. They are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allen and can now be heard on Chicago network broadcasts. A special feature of their program was a medley of popular songs played on the accordion by Mrs. Allen.

SENIOR PLAY WAS GAY COMEDY

A farce involving a promise to tell the truth for 24 hours was enacted by a cast of senior thespians on April 28. Katy Lange and Art Harlan had the romantic leads in "Nothing But the Truth," while the dynamic "big shot" was done by Joe Pugh. The character players were Bob Hays as the Bishop, June Parton as the "lady of the house," and Andee Dentrono as a sensitive, young girl. Hits in the show were Sabel and Mabel, enacted by Mary Schaefer and Jeanie Mullen. Other parts were taken by Reggie Kavanaugh, Mike Husich, and Nancy Markel.

Joe Pugh and Reggie Kavanaugh are horrified as Jeanie Mullen and Mary Schaefer "do their act."

Senior Play, "Nothing But the Truth"

Art Harlan and Katy Lange are obviously unaware of Mike Husich's and Bob Hays' glances.

PEOPLE

GENERALS

The indefatigable paper drive committee, which included, Dorothy Chapman, Phoebe Seitzinger, Dick Sampson, Keith Grimm, and Bob Steiger, was rewarded by the response of the advisories in salvaging pounds and tons of paper, magazines, and cardboard. Varied special campaigns besides the weekly contributions consisted of a contest between the girls and the boys, an inter-advisory race to determine the paper King and Queen, and a campaign to boost advisory paper poundage to reach a quota of 2,500 pounds.

Friendly rivalry raged when a calico cat and a gingham dog were presented weekly to the home room bringing the most paper, and to the runner-up.

Returns from the paper salvage went in part to the Junior Red Cross and in part to the fund for auditorium programs.

The Paper Drive Committee

Standing: Sampson, Grimm, Stelger. Seated: Chapman, Seitzinger.

ELECTIONS

During the preliminaries for the election of association officers, clever campaign signs and mottos could be seen lining the halls, and by them a group of undecided voters. The two candidates for each office then addressed the students and teachers and offered their qualifications. Regular poll voting was conducted by the House and Senate members for the final election.

Newly-elected officers for 1944-1945 are Dick Sampson, president; Ted Rudzik, vice-president; and Amanda Alexander, recorder.

THE DUNES

SINCE 1930 . . . we have shared the pride of your school, in the production of many "All American" year books. ¶ We regret, in this year of 1944, we were unable to co-operate because of a badly reduced staff of co-workers in our studio. ¶ In the days after victory, we hope to be able to serve once again those who demand the distinction of fine photography.
